

There are thus shown the conditions under which the court attempted to conduct its business. It is not surprising to find that five cases from the calendar of the court had been actually assigned for trial in the last two weeks. Two of these have been settled, but the other three will go to trial. There is a possibility that one bench case will be reached before the last of the week, that of Barlick vs. Jensen, which Messrs. Parley and Terry asked to have placed on this week's list. All other local cases in all probability will go over until court recesses in the Federal court, next week, and otherwise the business of the court will be a very haphazard one.

MAJORITY MUST RULE FAMOUS RING GLADIATORS WHO ARE TO BATTLE FOR WORLD'S TITLE

But President Taft Says It Must be Tolerant

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 11.—From the election with a revolution. On his way snow capped Sierra of Saturday, President Taft plunged yesterday into the summer heat of the San Joaquin valley and arrived here shortly after 3 p. m. with the thermometer hovering about the 90's. He was greeted by practically the entire population of the city and surrounding country and after a short automobile trip through the business section addressed a gathering of many thousands in the court house square. The president's speech was in reality another Sunday sermon, the third he has preached since his trip began. His text, quoted from memory, was "He who conquereth himself is greater than he who taketh a city," and from it the president drew the lesson that popular government must always be a failure unless it is based upon sound common sense and the self restraint that goes to make the good lover. He drew an analogy between the American people in this respect and those people who in their attempts at self government follow an

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—Boxing fans throughout the civilized world are anxiously awaiting the result of the twenty round encounter between Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion, and Stanley Ketchel, holder of the middleweight title, to be held in San Francisco Oct. 12. Judging by the strict training the men have been doing for several weeks, the bout should result in a hummer. According to all pugilistic "dope," a good big man can whip a good little man and spot him half a dozen hard wallops to start with. We are forced to admit that

"LET A THU" is a good big man as far as the present day heavyweights go, and no one denies the fact that Ketchel is a corking good middleweight. The "dope" naturally points toward the black man. With his advantage of forty pounds in weight and his natural cleverness many experts can give Stanley nothing more than a look-in. The two men differ greatly in their methods of fighting. In the coming bout the spectators will see a small, courageous, hard hitting, devil-may-care fighter against a giant, who will be cautious, cool and behind a guard which will be hard to penetrate. Therefore the odds are against a knockout in the twenty rounds scheduled. Ketchel will waste in and make every effort to land blows about the stomach which will win for him by the referee's count of ten. Johnson will be satisfied to keep Stanley away and try very cautiously to worry him with jabs now and then when they can be landed out in absolute safety. The betting on the fight is 2 to 1 that the negro wins. Jack Welsh of San Francisco has been selected as referee.

and great privilege of reciprocating such fraternal regard." The president left here at 6:20 p. m. for Los Angeles. He stopped at Bakersfield last night for a few minutes to make a car-end address. Mr. Taft was a little stiff from his long mountain walk of Saturday, but declared he would like to have a similar experience every day. The meeting held in the courthouse square was arranged by the Ministerial association of Fresno and nearly all of the churches in the city were represented. He was introduced by Mayor Howell, and said, in part:

"There is a text, I don't know that I can quote it exactly, but to these gentlemen before me who have taken part in the battles of the war, it will come by reason of its comparison, with great significance: 'He that conquereth himself is greater than he who taketh a city.'"

"Now, the homely application to the individual of that text, I need hardly point out. There are so many instances in life's things. I like to dwell upon the importance of little things in life, for life is not made up of one great series of grandstand plays. It is made up of the little things that go either to make others happy or to make them unhappy."

"It is the conduct of the husband as he comes home from a tired day in restraining himself when he is met by his eager, curious wife, who wants to know how he has been living during the day and what has happened. Perhaps something has happened that does not please him or that he does not like to refer to, and he cuts her off with a short answer. Oh! I know it, and so do you. You have done it. So have I."

"Now in the overcoming of that disposition, the keeping constantly in your mind and heart her happiness, and yet your comfort and your disposition, that is what makes you greater than taking a city."

"But I am supposed to look at things from a political and governmental standpoint and the text applies to me more strongly in that regard, possibly than in any other, because of some very acute experiences I have had in political matters."

"Popular government we all approve of, though sometimes I don't think we know exactly when we do approve it. I think we mistake frequent order for means. We talk about liberty as something to be accomplished as an end. Well, neither is not true. Liberty is a means of pursuit of happiness. Popular government we have, because we believe in the long run that it is the best government, that is the government that makes most men happy."

"But you cannot run a popular government merely by calling it so. You have got to have some means of determining what shall direct the course of government; what shall decide that is the majority. I do not know any other method in a popular government. We do have checks. We do have indirect means of giving expression to that vote of the majority, but when you get down to the basis it is the control of the majority."

"Now you cannot have a decent popular government unless that majority can conquer itself; that is, unless that majority exercises the self-restraint that men with great power ought to exercise. And why? I am not going into the various parts of the world, but I can call your attention to it. It is not that I am in a responsible position now with respect to foreign countries and I have got to speak with care. I would call your attention to a good many instances where those who are in favor of popular government and who if I may use the expression, pull the tail feathers out of the eagle in defying liberty and suppressing everything that we think dear, and yet just as soon as they become a majority they think that gives them the right to control the minority absolutely and if the minority show any disposition to question it they send them to jail."

"What is the effect of that? They say this is popular rule; this is the rule of the majority. So what does the minority do? Why, the minority says 'We will take to the woods' and they do take to the woods. And so we have that system that alternates between an election and a revolution if you call that popular government."

"Now why is it that it works that way? It is because the majority and the minority do not govern themselves and do not exercise that self-restraint without which popular government is absolutely impossible. And that is the application of the text that comes home to me in thinking and dealing with these countries that are struggling for popular government. A minority that is beaten in the election cannot stand the defeat. It has to go to the woods. They are not good losers and the majority are not good winners."

"Popular government is a most difficult thing to establish. We have had to hammer it out in a thousand years of Anglo-Saxon suffering, controversy and contest. And now it rests in the common sense and the self-restraint of the American people. It rests in the knowledge of the many that it has got to keep within the check of the law and constitution if the government is to be preserved."

"And it must rest in the view of the minority that it is much more important that the government should be sustained than that the minority should for the time being have control of or a voice in the government. It rests in the knowledge of the majority that the rights of the minority and the individuals of the minority are exactly as sacred as the rights and the wills of the individuals of the majority."

"The people rule—there is no doubt about that, but they rule according to law and under its constitution and they voluntarily and willingly placed the constitution and that form and methods of expression upon themselves in order that they might act with deliberation and with the checks that were sure to secure moderate, clear-headed, well-thought out policies and therefore when the American people voted that constitution and now that they are maintaining it and supporting it as I hope they always will, they are governing themselves and are not to be credited that they are taking a city."

Escaped a Slow and Horrible Death.
No one could have suffered more than Thomas E. Brock, 35 Willard street, Hartford, Conn. He did so and was cured in a short time. Sold by Littlewood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Send for free illustrated booklet.

LAW TO THE RESCUE OF LOWELL. Incapacity or neglect of Fall River (Mass.). The decision of duty. The mayor has not the right Judge Dana of the superior court, to remove the board of police merely because he differs from the members, police commissioners of Lowell who and they from him in a matter of policy which is exclusively within their control."

No doubt this decision will have its effect in impressing upon the citizens of Lowell that the deplorable situation which their city and its business affairs have suffered because of this situation, that has just been cleared up in court, was entirely unnecessary and due to the badly balanced cabinet of an executive, who hasn't judgment enough to discriminate between legal methods of procedure and cheap grand stands in the exercise of official functions, unfortunately committed to his keeping."

If, however, the incident will have served to arouse the voters of Lowell to a realization of the fact that they themselves are to blame for permitting the management of their municipal affairs to degenerate into burlesque and all round ineptitude, the incident, bad and humiliating as it is, may have good returns in the near future."

NIGHT EDITION

MURDER INDICTMENTS

Three Were Returned by Grand Jury at Providence

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 11.—Three indictments for murder, three for manslaughter and three secret indictments, were among the 110 true bills reported before Judge Lee in the supreme court today by the September term of the grand jury.

Philip Dinezzo of this city was charged with murdering Alfred Mancini, Camillo Cristofani, accused of murdering James Larose at Woonsocket, and Angelo Moretti with slaying Antonio Moretti in Cranston. The manslaughter indictments were against W. C. Gardner, held responsible for the death of Joseph P. Early, Charles A. O'Reilly, charged with causing the death of John H. Hamerstrom and John McKenna, an inmate of the soldiers' home, at Bristol, who, it is alleged, clubbed his comrade, Alfred Morris.

James Beach, the Central Falls contractor, and Peter Casey of Pawtucket were indicted for obtaining money under false pretenses from the city of Pawtucket in connection with the famous stone crusher graft case. The bills returned by the last grand jury were found defective making a reindictment necessary.

GREAT HURRICANE

Prof. Moore Predicts Loss of Life and Property

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Great destruction to property and loss of life along the South Atlantic and even in the interior according to Prof. Moore, is certain to result from a great hurricane which has already touched southern Florida and is making its way up the coast. Since reports of this morning the weather bureau has issued Prof. Moore to take every measure possible to protect the inhabitants of the Sea Islands off the Florida coast from the approaching storm. At noon he sent the following instructions to the observer at Jupiter Inlet, Tampa, Jacksonville and Thomasville.

Warnings at Key West recorded the remarkably low reading of 28.8 and already at that point the wind had reached hurricane force. In the opinion of the forecaster the storm will certainly cover the entire Florida peninsula but will be felt also west of the Appalachicola river. It is due in full force to the weather bureau and publishing organizations to spread the news.

The West Indian hurricane is fast approaching Key West according to a despatch received at noon by the weather bureau from its observer at that point.

Forttential rains have fallen ceaselessly during the last few days. At 2 o'clock this morning a storm of tremendous severity which had gathered to the west swept down upon the city and for six hours wrought great damage similar to that done by the great cyclone of October 17, 1906. The wind tore down telegraph and telephone wires throughout the city, uprooted and broke down every tree in its path and put out of operation the electric light system. The overhead trolley lines and the many works dependent upon the electric power plants were also put out of commission. While the wind was doing its worst the downpour of rain flooded the streets, making it impossible to open the shops. The smaller craft in the harbor was at the mercy of the storm and today many of these are thrown high on shore while others have been sunk at their anchorages.

At 9 o'clock the storm had lessened sufficiently so that some idea of the damage could be had. It is enormous in dollars cannot be said as yet. The steamers of the Ward and Plant lines as well as the steamer from New Orleans which are due today had not arrived this forenoon. As the morning progressed the wind continued to subside but a terrific sea was still running.

WORLD'S SERIES

Detroit and Pittsburg Met in Detroit This Afternoon

DETROIT, Oct. 11.—A leaden sky with an occasional glimpse of the sun and a damp field greeted the crowd as it made its way to Bennett park for the first of the world's championship games between Pittsburg and Detroit in this city today. At no time was it certain that it would not rain but thousands went to the park determined to have anything to see the great battle. It would take a fairly heavy rainfall for the national commission to postpone the game as the officials and two teams are eager to finish the crucial series as soon as possible.

The Detroit team was given a great ovation as it emerged from the clubhouse led by Manager Jennings. The local team, treated on the field and went about its practice work in a businesslike way. To Cobb was cheered because of his brilliant work in Saturday's game at Pittsburg. In the first game Cobb's showing was not particularly brilliant but in the second he showed up much better and it is expected he has now struck his stride.

The selection of pitchers was puzzling to Managers Clarke and Jennings and neither would make a definite prediction as to his twirler during the preliminary practice.

Gibson was so hot that the bat for Pittsburg, while Schmidt was used for Detroit.

COURT OF APPEALS

Affirms the Sentence of Morse, the "Ice King"

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The United States circuit court of appeals today affirmed the decision of the lower federal court sentencing Charles W. Morse to fifteen years' imprisonment in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

The decision of the circuit court of appeals is final so far as another appeal is concerned, but it was said today that counsel for Mr. Morse may apply to the supreme court of the United States for a writ of certiorari in order to bring about a review of the entire proceedings by that court.

At the offices of Mr. Morse's counsel today it was stated that the case would be taken to the supreme court and an application for bail would be made. Meantime Mr. Morse will be sent to the Tombs or might be sent to Atlanta to begin his sentence unless the circuit court of appeals grants a stay in the execution of his sentence.

Mr. Morse appeared at the office of the United States marshal soon after the decision was handed down and surrendered himself. He remained in the marshal's office while his counsel, Martin Littleton, asked the circuit court of appeals for a stay in the execution pending a further proceeding.

Morse was indicted on March 12, 1908, on his return from Europe. The indictment contained 53 counts, comprising a conspiracy to defraud the United States government, the making of false entries and the misapplication of the funds of a national bank. It was charged that Morse with others was engaged in a pool dealing with the stock of the American Ice Co. As the result of this pool United States District Atty. Stinson declared Morse and his associates became possessors of large blocks of ice stock and finally getting near the end of their resources, went to the National Bank of North America and secured money to continue the speculation. The government charged that from time to time $120,000 of the bank's money was used for this purpose. To conceal these transactions Mr. Stinson said, fictitious loans were made on the bank's books with the ice stock really bought with the bank's own money.

After his original sentence Morse obtained a writ of error which brought his case before the circuit court of appeals for review. Arguments on his appeal began last February and the judges not until June 17, when the judges reserved decision and admitted the defendant to bail of $125,000 furnished by twenty of his friends. On June 17 Morse was released from the Tombs where he had been confined since October, 1905. Immediately he plunged into business in a long prison term not hanging over him and during the next four months his financial rehabilitation was rapid. During that time he is reported to have paid off $5,000,000 of his $7,000,000 indebtedness and to have regained control of a large part of his extensive steamship interests.

While the court today did not light on the sentence which Morse has been striving to annul, its decision was not entirely adverse because it sustained only ten of the 53 counts on which he was convicted by a jury. This, say his attorneys, will leave a means of approach to the court of last resort and an application for a writ of certiorari to review the case will be made on Oct. 15, in Washington.

"Mr. Morse is keenly disappointed that judgment against him was not reversed," said his lawyer, Martin W. Littleton, today, "but he had faith that it would be brought before the supreme court of the United States. He is not cast down by the decision and he will continue to repair his broken fortunes and help those whom he is supposed to have injured."

As soon as application for a writ of certiorari is made this case as a stay of sentence, Mr. Littleton said, Morse while Mr. Littleton will strive to have the circuit court of appeals of New York grant a stay in the execution of the sentence. This would permit Morse to remain in the Tombs until the United States supreme court decided whether or not to again admit him to bail.

Mr. Morse heard the decision in the United States marshal's office where he had gone to receive it. He took the news calmly and as soon as the decision was read to him formally surrendered himself to the marshal. To Morse's complaint that fifteen years was excessive in view of the suspension of a sentence on Alfred Curtis, who was indicted with him, the court answers that this is a complaint to be made to the president of the United States in asking clemency.

be made to the president of the United States in asking clemency.

TEN COUNTS

WERE SUSTAINED BY COURT OF APPEALS.

NEW YORK, October 11.—Five years in prison came near Charles W. Morse, the financier, when the United States circuit court upheld the lower courts in sentencing the banker to such a penalty for misapplying the funds of a national bank. Morse surrendered himself and his attorneys immediately began steps to carry his case to the United States supreme court and to secure a continuation of his bail bond pending further argument.

GOT SIX MONTHS

For Vicious Assault on His Wife

Joseph A. Smith struck his wife over the head with a clothes rack at their home in Cheever street Saturday night and a short time after the assault the woman was found in an alleyway near the house, but the husband had made good his escape.

The woman was taken to the Lowell hospital, where it was found that she had a bad scalp wound and five stitches were necessary to close it.

Yesterday the police ran across Smith, and in the night this morning he was found guilty of assaulting his wife and sentenced to six months in the house of correction at Cambridge.

MANHATTAN CLUB

Opened Rooms in Gorham Street Yesterday

The Manhattan club, which is composed of the young element residing in upper Gorham street and considered in social circles to be one of the most popular organizations in this city, formally opened its new place in this city yesterday. A large number of members were present. The club house is located in Gorham street, opposite Blossom street. It occupies the top story of the Manhattan building. It comprises a spacious assembly hall, which is furnished in an exquisite manner. An upright piano occupies a conspicuous place in this room. There are several ante-rooms and a gymnasium. All are well equipped and furnished.

At yesterday's meeting President Ward presided. The applications of seven new members were read and accepted. A committee was appointed to consider the advisability of holding a smoke talk October 22. Wm. Clinton, chairman of the committee in charge of the coming minstrel show, reported that arrangements were proceeding rapidly. A report was read by Secretary Wm. Donnellan, and was unanimously accepted. The business session then adjourned.

Following the meeting an informal social program was given, which included piano solos and duets by Messrs. Fitzpatrick and Gardner; song, "My Friend Abel," Leo Crowley; solo, Mr. Rodgers; remarks pertaining to the welfare of the club were delivered by John Frawley and Pres. Ward. Other members also were heard in songs and recitations, after which the session was adjourned.

Judge King's Tribute to Late Judge Bishop

At the conclusion of the trial of the case of Hamilton vs. Boston Rubber Shoe company, which went to the jury at noon today, Judge King addressed the jurors relative to the suspension of the session at the conclusion of the ensuing week and also paid a tribute to the memory of the late Judge Bishop, whose illness and subsequent death last Friday rendered the coming session impossible. His Honor spoke in part as follows:

Gentlemen of the jury: I have this morning received a letter from the chief justice, notifying me to excuse the jurors on this panel at the conclusion of this week's sitting until the day following the state election, Nov. 3. This is due to the fact that this session was to have been held by the late Judge Bishop, whose death occurred last Friday, to which I would have referred at that time had not a case been on trial. Justice Bishop became ill about a month ago, and his condition was such that it was impossible for him to hold court and hence I was sent as his substitute for two weeks, after which I got to my regular assignment in a neighboring city. It is only fitting for me at this time to pay a brief tribute to the late Justice Bishop. He had served almost the longest of any of our judges, Justices Sherman and Bond outliving him in seniority. He was a most amiable and courteous gentleman, and a wise and discreet judge. He was respected by everyone and his death is lamented by all, and it is only just that I should pay this brief tribute to so spotless a life, to one who had done his full duty for so many years in such a responsible position.

Major Bent's Mission

The fact that court will be resumed in this city in two weeks is largely due to the efforts of Major William H. Bent, who, representing the lawyers of Lowell, appeared before Chief Justice Allen on Saturday, with a request that a judge be assigned to this city to continue the session. Major Bent informed the chief justice that the list of cases is both long and strong, over 200 cases being on trial. The chief justice informed him that the two judges now sitting in special sessions in Cambridge start on a murder trial, beginning the day following election, but he expected that the appointment will be made by the governor.

The Coult Case

The case of Coult vs. Boston & Northern to recover $5000, for which a jury was empaneled last Friday, went to trial at noon. V. H. Bent for the plaintiff, and Trull & Wier for the defendant. Joseph Coult, the plaintiff, alleges that on May 23, 1906, while driving a horse and carriage into Merrimack street from John street he was run into by an electric car "going at a high rate of speed and without warning" and injured.

LOSS IS $1,000,000

Home of Ex-Governor Sprague Was Destroyed by Fire

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Oct. 11.—With trembling steps, Rhode Island's aged war governor, William Sprague, was led from his famous home, Canonchet, early today, and with his wife, turned to see one of the most magnificent private houses in the state and the home on which he had lavished more than half a million dollars, dyed skyward in smoke and flames. Faithful servants and willing neighbors dragged out many pieces of valuable furniture, paintings and other household goods before the flames reached the door, but nothing above that was saved. The great homestead was built of wood many years ago and was four stories in height. During the height of his career Governor Sprague filled the house with the choicest specimens of antique furniture, bronzes, tapestries and paintings. Canonchet was one of the "show" places of the state and, occupying a slightly position not far from the bay, it was the object of interest for nearly half a century.

It was the hope of the governor and Mrs. Sprague that they should pass the remainder of their days in the home which they loved so well. But in the dark hours of the early morning one of the servants heard the snapping of flames and saw the reflection in the ground outside. The household was quickly aroused, and the aged governor, who had been lying in bed, reached the door, but nothing above that was saved. MAJORITY MUST RULE

But President Taft Says It Must be Tolerant

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 11.—From the snow-capped Sierras of Saturday, President Taft plunged yesterday into the summer heat of the San Joaquin valley and arrived here shortly after 10 p. m., with the thermometer hovering about the 90's. He was greeted by practically the entire population of the city and surrounding country and after a short automobile trip through the business section, addressed a gathering of many thousands in the court house square. The president's speech was in reality another Sunday sermon, the third he has preached since his trip began. His text, quoted from memory, was "He who conquers himself is greater than he who takes a city," and from it the president drew the lesson that popular government must always be a failure unless it is based upon sound common sense and the self-restraint that goes to make the good loser. He drew an analogy between the American people in this respect and those people who in their attempts at self government follow an election with a revolution. On his way here President Taft stopped at Merced for three hours and attended morning service at the Presbyterian church. His greeting at Fresno came from probably the most cosmopolitan community he has met in all his travels. In the throngs that lined the sidewalks was a commingling of Chinese, Japanese, Armenians, Portuguese and a dozen other nationalities. A feature of the president's visit to Fresno was the presentation of an address of good will from the Japanese residents as follows:

"Mr. President—We, the Japanese residents of Fresno City and surrounding country have the great honor to offer to you our sincere and most friendly greetings and to accord you a most joyous welcome to our community. We hail you, sir, as the honored chief of a great nation which we regard as on the friendliest terms with ours; and we also rejoice that our beloved country, Japan, has the honor

FAMOUS RING GLADIATORS WHO ARE TO BATTLE FOR WORLD'S TITLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—Boxing fans throughout the civilized world are anxiously awaiting the result of the twenty round encounter between Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion, and Stanley Ketchel, holder of the middleweight title, to be held in San Francisco Oct. 18. Judging by the strict training the men have been doing for several weeks, the bout should result in a hummer. According to pugilistic "dope," a good big man can whip a good little man and spot him half a dozen hard wallops to start with. We are forced to admit that

"Lit A'uh" is a good big man as far as the present day heavyweights go, and no one denies the fact that Ketchel is a corking good middleweight. The "dope" naturally points toward the black man. With his advantage of forty pounds in weight and his natural cleverness many experts can give Stanley nothing more than a look-in. The two men differ greatly in their methods of fighting. In the coming bout the spectators will see a small, courageous, hard hitting, devil-may-care fighter against a giant, who will be cautious, cool and behind a guard

which will be hard to penetrate. Therefore the odds are against a knockout in the twenty rounds scheduled. Ketchel will waste in and make every effort to land blows about the stomach which will win for him by the referee's count of ten. Johnson will be satisfied to keep Stanley away and try very cautiously to worry him with jabs now and then when they can be handled out in absolute safety. The betting on the fight is 2 to 1 that the negro wins. Jack Welsh of San Francisco has been selected as referee.

LAW TO THE RESCUE OF LOWELL. The decision of Judge Dana of the superior court, which orders the reinstatement of the police commissioners of Lowell who were removed from office after a formal sort of suspended hearing conducted by Mayor Brown of that city, a few months ago, should serve as a valuable lesson in the future for those entrusted with such duties as those of the Lowell mayor, and should be a warning to all who would attempt to remove a public official from office without a proper hearing.

The finding of the court is very definite and sweeping, and after saying that the charges of incapacity, malfeasance and neglect are not proven, Judge Dana declared that the members of the police board are in no sense subordinates of the mayor, and that in their sphere they are as supreme as Mayor Brown is in his.

Mayor Brown asserts, says Judge Dana, that the Sunday law in regard to the sale of intoxicating liquors by unlicensed vendors was not enforced by the board of police as it should have been enforced before he became mayor. Although it appears that a more stringent policy was adopted after his election, it is not in consequence of it.

The court's decision shows malfeasance, or neglect, or neglect of duty, on the part of the board of police, and he has removed said board upon these grounds among others. It recognizes that if the board of police had adopted a more rigorous policy at the outset, they would have avoided much of the criticism to which they have been rightly or wrongly subjected; but I do not find, and I do not think that an impartial person can find, in this record, evidence of maland great privilege of reciprocating such fraternal regard."

The president left here at 6:20 p. m. for Los Angeles. He stopped at Bakersfield last night for a few minutes to make a car-end address.

Mr. Taft was a little stiff from his long mountain walk of Saturday, but declared he would like to have a similar experience every day.

The meeting held in the courthouse square was arranged by the Ministerial association of Fresno and nearly all of the churches in the city were represented. He was introduced by Mayor Lowell, and said, in part:

"There is a text, I don't know that I can quote it exactly, but to these gentlemen before me who have taken part in the battles of the war, it will come by reason of its comparison with great significance: 'He that conquers himself is greater than he who takes a city.'"

"Now, the homely application to the individual of that text, I need hardly point.

"There are so many instances in little things, I like to dwell upon the importance of little things in life, for life is not made up of one great series of grandstand plays. It is made up of the little things that go either to make others happy or to make them unhappy.

"It is the conduct of the husband as he comes home from a tired day in restraining himself when he is met by his eager, curious wife, who wants to know how he has been living, during the day and what has happened. Perhaps something has happened that does not please him or that he does not like to refer to, and he cuts her off with a short answer. Oh! I know it, and so do you. You have done it. So have I.

"Now in the overcoming of that disposition, the keeping constantly in your mind and heart her happiness, and yet your comfort and your disposition, that is what makes you greater than taking a city.

"But I am supposed to look at things from a political and governmental standpoint and the text applies to the nation as well as to the individual. It is in any other, because of some very acute experiences I have had in political matters.

"Popular government we all approve, of though sometimes I don't think we know exactly when we do approve it. I think we mistake frequent ends for means. We talk about liberty as something to be accomplished as an end. Well, neither is not true. Liberty is a means of pursuit of happiness. Popular government we have, because we believe in the long run that it is the best government, that is the government that makes most men happy.

"But you expect me to say a popular government is merely by calling it so. You have got to have some means of determining what shall direct the course of government; what shall decide that is the majority. I do not know any other method in a popular government. We do have checks. We do have indirect means of giving expression to that voice of the majority, but we have got down to the basis it is the control of the majority.

"Now you cannot have a decent popular government unless that majority exercises the self-restraint that goes with great power and it is exercised. And why? I am not going to say the various parts of the world, but I can tell you, attending to a question that I am in a responsible position now with respect to foreign countries and I have got to speak with care. I would call your attention to a good many instances where those who are in favor of popular government and full the full benefits of the world in doing liberty and appointing everything that we think is good and yet just as soon as they become a majority they think that gives them the right to control the minority absolutely and if the minority show any disposition to question it they send them to jail.

"What is the effect of that? They say this is popular rule; this is the rule of the majority. So what does the minority do? Why, the minority says 'We will take to the woods' and they do take to the woods. And so we have that system that alternates between an election and a revolution if you call that popular government.

"Now why is it that it works that way? It is because the majority and the minority do not govern themselves and do not exercise that self-restraint without which popular government is absolutely impossible. And that is the application of the text that comes home to me in thinking and dealing with these countries that are struggling for popular government. A minority that is beaten in the election cannot stand the defeat. It has to go to the woods. They are not good losers and the majority are not good winners.

"Popular government is a most difficult thing to establish. We have had to hammer it out in a thousand years of Anglo-Saxon suffering, controversy and contest. And now it rests in the common sense and the self-restraint of the American people. It rests in the knowledge of the many that it has got to keep within the check of the law and constitution if the government is to be preserved.

"And it must rest in the view of the minority that it is much more important that the government should be sustained than that the minority should for the time being have control of or a voice in the government. It rests in the knowledge of the majority that the rights of the minority and the individuals of the minority are exactly as sacred as the rights and the will of the individuals of the majority.

"The people rule—there is no doubt about that, but they rule according to law and under the constitution and they voluntarily and willingly placed the constitution and that system and methods of expression upon themselves in order that they might act with deliberation and with the checks that were sure to secure moderate, clear-headed, well-thought out policies and therefore when the American people vote that constitution and now that they are maintaining it and supporting it as I hope they always will, they are governing themselves and are more to be credited than in that takes a city."

TALKS OF REVOLUTION

British Chancellor Says the Peers May Force One

NEWCASTLE, Eng., Oct. 11.—David Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, received a popular welcome at the Palace theatre here where he gave to an audience of 4000 what he called a plain talk on the budget.

"We are going to send that bill up to the house of lords and get all the taxes on it," said the chancellor. "He did not know what would be the final action to be taken by 'poor' Lord Lansdowne with his creaking old ship and mutinous crew," but if the lords turn up the constitution by interfering with the money bill, they would force a revolution.

"The lords may demand a revolution, but the people will raise it if it is demanded, and issues will be raised that are now little dreamed of, the answers to which will be charged with peril for the order of things which the peers represent."

When Lloyd George was leaving the theatre a crowd of suffragettes made a dash toward his car. Lady Constance Lytton, who was armed with a hat, chest, Mrs. H. N. Brailsford and Miss Davidson were arrested. Earlier in the day four other sympathizers with the suffragettes were sentenced to 14 days at hard labor for indulging in a window smashing campaign at the local Liberal office yesterday morning.

ENORMOUS INCREASE

In Imports Into United States From the Philippines

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Imports into the United States from the Philippine Islands under the new tariff show an increase of more than 100 per cent, in August, 1909, when compared with August, 1908. Curiously, however, the principal increase is in an article which entered free of duty under the former tariff, namely, manila hemp. The total value of merchandise from the Philippines in the month of August, 1909, was $1,521,138, against $814,519 in August of last year. Of this $1,521,138 worth of merchandise from the Philippines in August of the present year, manila hemp formed by far the largest part, that article alone amounting in value to $1,578,205, while in August of last year the manila hemp imported amounted in value to but $514,128. This, while the records of the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor show an increase of more than 100 per cent, in the value of merchandise from the Philippines in August of the present year, compared with the corresponding month of last year, by far the largest item of that increase was manila hemp, which entered free of duty under the former tariff.

In fact the increase in importations of articles formerly dutiable, but now free of duty is not large. Sugar, for example, although there had been for months reason to believe that imports therefrom from the Philippine Islands would be admitted free of duty under the new tariff, actually shows a smaller importation in the month of August, 1909, when compared with the corresponding month of last year, by far the largest item of that increase was manila hemp, which entered free of duty under the former tariff.

WORKS AT BENCH BADLY MANGLED

Paid at Rate of $10,000 a Year

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 11.—John T. George of this city, until a few days ago manager of the Harrington Leather company's plant, is now at a bench on the works like a common leather worker, but is drawing a salary of $10,000 a year. He does not like the work, but will stick to it until next June, when his contract at $10,000 a year expires.

He learned the business when a boy and in New England years ago rose from the bench to a position as manager. When the Harrington company moved here from New England George came with it as its high priced expert. He also was first vice president of the company.

In the recent leather merger the Harrington company was absorbed by the Central Leather company. Then George discovered he was to be dismissed, and it was intimated that his resignation would be accepted when sent in.

George replied he was not resigning. He would insist that the contract the Harrington company had with him be lived up to. He was informed he would have to go to work. It was expected he would refuse to do so, and that his resignation would be accepted when sent in.

He rides to the works in his automobile, eats his lunch with the other workmen and his auto calls for him each evening.

FURIOUS STORM

Of Hurricane Proportions in Havana

HAVANA, Oct. 11.—A storm of hurricane proportions struck the city today and raged with unabated fury for several hours. No facilities had been reported this morning, but the property loss from wind and rain probably will be enormous. Many lighters and other small craft in the harbor have been sunk or driven aground.

All telegraph wires in the city are down, the electric power service is crippled and scarcely a tree is left standing in Havana.

THE LAHM CUP

Neither Von Puhl Nor Honeywell is Winner

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—Augustus Post, secretary of the Aero club of America, decided last night that neither S. L. Von Puhl nor H. S. Honeywell pilots of the balloons St. Louis No. 4 and Centennial, respectively, is entitled to the Lahm cup.

Although each sailed more than 675 miles in the race which started from here last Monday they failed to register for the cup, which is now in the possession of Captain DeForest Chandler.

A. Holland Forbes and Augustus Post, both of New York, will ascend here Tuesday in the balloon New York and try to win the cup.

GENERAL KING

Used Knife When Attacked by Negroes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Attacked by three negroes and forced by his declaration to use a pocket knife to defend his life, Gen. J. Floyd King, 67 years of age, for eight years during the 1890s a representative in congress from Louisiana and a Confederate veteran, was badly beaten Saturday night about the head and body it was learned today. One of the negroes in the hospital so badly cut that his recovery is said to be doubtful. Gen. King himself who was arrested has been released on bond. Warrants have been issued by friends of Gen. King against the negroes, although none of the warrants has yet been served. The police say they know where the two negroes who were taken to the hospital can be found.

SAMUEL COMPERS

Awaits the Decision of the Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was at the Victoria hotel yesterday, happy and complacent, and spoke with much vigor on his case before the U. S. court of appeals, which is expected to hand down a decision today.

"If the court says that I must go to jail for the defense of American free speech," he said, "I shall cheerfully go to jail. I am a free man from Europe and I will be on hand when the decision will be announced. John Mitchell, Frank Morrison and myself are charged with being guilty of contempt of court because by speech and mail we advised the continuation of a law we are not in favor of."

He said the decision he expected to be handed down today was a very important one to the American Federation of Labor. He said he was sure that the court would decide in favor of the American Federation of Labor.

THAT STATUE OF PURITY WHICH CAUSES N. Y. TO SMILE

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—New York has been very much amused and the caricaturists, comedians and cartoonists are having a great deal of fun over the big statue of purity which has been erected in Longacre square. The statue is out of place in that part of Broadway, and the thing is being comically "gilded."

POLICE OFFICIALS

Ridicule Story That Lawrence Man Made a Confession

LAWRENCE, Oct. 11.—District Attorney W. Scott Peters, when interviewed last evening in regard to the alleged confession concerning the murder of the policeman at Methuen a year ago, which was published yesterday in Boston, said that his attention had not been called officially on the matter, and that he knew nothing about it, further than had been stated in the newspaper account. State Officer Paul P. Flynn, who headed the investigation, also denied any knowledge of any such confession. He called attention to the fact that the ball which killed McDermott was in the expensive diamonds, the same as carried by the Jamaica Plain bandits. The officer knew nothing of the alleged confession, and appeared to take the matter lightly.

City Marshal Richard Fox declared his belief that the story was invented. He had received no information whatever of the alleged confession, and said that he considered the story "extremely foolish." He declared that no law-abiding citizen, professional or otherwise, would give such a story, if true, to a newspaper, before communicating with the police. Capt. Sullivan of the night force also knew nothing of the affair. He summed up the story as being "foolish."

The Methuen police disclaim any knowledge of the confession, and laughed when the story was shown them. The story is universally discredited through the city because of the utter absence of names, dates or places.

Medical Examiner John Croston of Haverhill, when called upon last night, had heard nothing of the alleged confession. He stated upon referring to his papers of the autopsy that McDermott was killed by a revolver shot which entered the left side and the bullet which was afterward recovered, was described as from a Mauser gun. There were a number of wounds on the head which had penetrated the skull, evidently made by stones.

In the body of Emerson there was but a single bullet wound. When the clothing was removed the bullet fell out, it having passed through the left side. Emerson's head was also wounded in several places, but not so badly as was McDermott's. Some of the head wounds, Dr. Croston thought, might possibly have been made by bullets, but their appearance hardly warranted such a cause. He stated that in his opinion the story of the confession was "bubbling."

The story referred to claiming that a man in Lawrence, on his deathbed, made a confession, which is now in the hands of the district attorney, claiming that McDermott and Emerson were shot by one of a gang of Lawrence and Methuen men who "broke out" in the past month.

The men had been stealing fruit and vegetables and their bodies were found appearing their bodies. A few months' meetings with the head began

MILWAKEE WIFE

Makes Strange Plea for Divorce

MILWAKEE, Oct. 11.—Because her husband persistently refuses to wear neckties which match with the shade of her gowns, Mrs. Alfred Laroche will file suit for divorce. She was married in Syracuse five years ago.

The husband's defense will be that his wife so imposed upon him by insisting that he accompany her on shopping tours that his cruelty is justified.

The wife's plea is that her husband, whom she likes to have accompany her on her visits to the downtown stores, deliberately wears clothing which does not comport with her gowns. On one occasion, she says, she was shopping in a place where silk and green velvet attire, which she was wearing, was being shown in a flowing green four-in-hand, which she was striking contrast to her costume.

On another occasion he wore a tie of blue to prevent her enjoying a shopping tour in a creation of a light green shade.

JUSTICE GAYNOR

Says That Hearst Promised to Support Him

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—In a statement full of sting, yet devoid of invective, Justice William J. Gaynor, the democratic nominee for mayor of Greater New York, fired his first big shot, this of the municipal campaign last night, in an attack on William Randolph Hearst for repudiating him as a candidate after having promised to support him.

Early last week, Mr. Hearst issued a statement, saying positively that he would not run for mayor but would support Justice Gaynor. Two days later he accepted an independent nomination for the office and, reversing his former position, declared that Gaynor's associations with Tammany had influenced him to withdraw his support. Surprised at this action, Justice Gaynor issued a brief statement, charging Hearst with breach of faith and last night he came out with a statement and a letter, purporting to show that Hearst had urged him to run for mayor nearly six months ago "on any ticket," and pledged his support.

On occasion his statement, Justice Gaynor first made public a letter addressed to him by Rudolph Block, who occupies an editorial position on the Hearst papers. Under date of October 2, 1908, while "regretting exceedingly to be drawn into the affair," Block at some length what private talks between Hearst and Gaynor early last summer. The letter says, in part: "Shortly before Mr. Hearst left for Europe last summer, he asked me to bring you to his home. I think this was the second or third time you had ever seen him. He asked you if you would not run for mayor in the fall and said 'I don't care what ticket you run on, I'll support you.'"

Mr. Block goes on to say that Hearst declared that he would support Gaynor even if nominated by Tammany on the theory that he was opposed to Tammany methods but not opposed to Tammany when it does the right thing. In addition, according to Block, Hearst then promised Gaynor the support of his newspapers. Commenting on these circumstances, Justice Gaynor's statement says:

"To this statement of Mr. Block I add that after returning from Europe I saw Mr. Hearst in September according to promise. He said that he had in no way changed his mind and that he would support me whatever ticket I ran on, or whenever nominated me. He reiterated this repeatedly, and with apparent earnestness. He came out into the hall to the elevator as I was leaving and took me by the hand and told me to come out with a statement that I would run and that he would support me."

Justice Gaynor then continues: "Mr. Hearst, now repudiates his former promise, will not permit the condition to be called, and is having himself nominated by petition against me. I am fully convinced that his great estate of from $50,000,000 to $55,000,000 gives him a huge advantage over me in the race, but I am ready to meet him before the people of New York. I suppose we are about to witness again such a lavish use of money by a candidate for office as was never before witnessed in American politics and which, if continued, must in the end debase and corrupt our politics and our system of government. But it now lies with all his money and newspapers and power the people of New York may not let him run over me as easily as he thinks."

Mr. Hearst gave out a statement asserting Justice Gaynor, in which he said: "If Judge Gaynor has stated that I promised to support him under any and all circumstances, and upon any and all tickets, he states that is exactly what I said. I am not assuming that I am perfectly mistaken, but it is difficult for me to do so, as the proposition is so reasonable and impossible that it leaves its reputation on its face."

Judge Gaynor is not a life friend of a decent, level-headed man whom I have known for years. He has been to me merely a representative of certain ideas, an exponent of certain principles. When he was supporting these principles I supported him. When he deserted these principles I parted from him. I said on October 2nd, that I believed that Judge Gaynor's opponent would prove to be entirely satisfactory, but that he must be explicit. We expected a ringing declaration of uprightness and independence. We received a grudging, hedging, dodging expression of opinion, or rather lack of opinion and a squalid suggestion that we endorse his evil associates on

PERRY STILL LIVES

He Received a Shock of 13,000 Volts But Was Not Killed

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Eugene J. Perry of Medford, employed by the Edison Electric Illuminating company, fell against a live wire while at work in Dedham yesterday and 13,000 volts of electricity passed through his body until he was rescued by his fellow workmen. He was unconscious and was severely burned on the right arm, left arm and right foot. He was taken to the Massachusetts General hospital, where his condition is critical. It is feared he will lose his right hand and right leg.

Perry was at work with a construction gang stringing wires on East street, Dedham. He was on a pole amid a network of wires when he missed his footing. His position was quickly seen by his fellow-employees and word was sent to the power station and the power was shut off. The man lay unconscious across the network of wires and the other workmen had to tie a rope around his body to lower him to the ground.

Dr. Andrew H. Hodgdon of Dedham was called and attended the man. Perry revived soon after the accident, but suffered severely from the terrible burns on his arms and leg. Dr. Hodgdon fixed the wound temporarily and relieved the man's sufferings while he was rushed in an automobile to the Massachusetts General hospital.

INDIANS NOT DECREASING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The popular idea that the American Indians are decreasing in number is dispelled by official figures showing that today there are more than three hundred thousand Red men in the United States.

The increase in population of about 10,000 during the last two decades is attributed to the government's constant effort to uplift the aborigines to the level of contemporary civilization.

In New York she won fame as "the pink palmer girl" in a musical piece, and then took her up when she went there. She met Mr. Barrie through playing the title part in "Peter Pan" in London.

Mr. Barrie invited us independently to enroll under the stained and drabbed banners of Tammany hall, and in order to elect him mayor to abandon our opinions, our principles, our morals, our independence, our self-respect. He derided that we tolerate his political associates and forget his personal treachery. He asked us to be liberal, to think as the thugs and thieves go, to combine with criminals to support a rascally government.

Concluding, Mr. Hearst denies that he invited Justice Gaynor to come to this house. Justice Gaynor, he says, came to him "humbly as I have no doubt he previously visited Murphy. He denies in conclusion, with a sarcastic reference to Block that he told Block he would support Gaynor under any and all circumstances.

LOWELL HIGH WON JACK JOHNSON

Nashua Defeated in Is the Favorite in the Football Game Betting

The Lowell High school football team won its third victory of the season Saturday afternoon, when it defeated Nashua High by a score of 4 to 0. The game was well contested throughout, the up-river eleven proving to be a worthy opponent. Owing to the extreme heat the players did not do as good work as they would have done had the day been colder.

Lowell gained her touchdown on defensive work. In fact, Lowell was practically on the defense during the entire game.

After being held for downs on the 15 yard line, Bartlett, Rooney and Canney broke through the line and Nashua attempted to punt. The punt was blocked by Bartlett and Canney securing the ball rushed over the line for a touchdown. Rooney kicked a perfect goal, and the score was 5 to 0 when the game was over.

The score was made in the second half with Lowell men nearly exhausted after the hard work of the first period. Once before Lowell had threatened Nashua's goal, but was held for downs on the five yard line. Some good tackling was done, and all in all, the playing of the local eleven was far above what it has been this season.

ST. JOHN'S TEAM

Defeated the Textile School Eleven

St. John's preparatory school eleven defeated the team representing Textile school at Washington park Saturday afternoon by a score of 5 to 0. Owing to the warm weather the attendance was very large and it was not due to the lack of enthusiasm on the part of the rooters for the local school that the team lost.

The local team had no excuse to offer for the visitors outplayed Textile at every point and won on their merits. The playing during the first half was rather tame, but in the second, St. John's took a brace and after a series of play brought the ball well into the Textile territory only to lose it on downs. The Lowell boys punted, but the kick was a short distance and soon the visitors were tearing holes through the local lines and a few minutes before the close of the game, pushed the ball over for a touchdown.

The Textile boys started a spurt in the last few minutes of play, but the time's whistle cut it short and both teams were fighting for ground in the center of the field when the end came.

LIFE SENTENCE

Imposed on 13-Year-Old Boy

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 11.—Life imprisonment was the sentence imposed by Justice Russell in the supreme criminal court at Guysboro, N. S., on Andrew J. Azzard, a 13 year old colored boy, who was found guilty of murdering Maggie Ann Azzard (colored), a crippled girl on July 27 last. The crime was a most atrocious one. During the absence of his parents Azzard, without any known cause, beat the little girl with a large stick of hard wood, and then seizing her by the lower limbs he battered her head against a ladder. Then dropping her to the ground, he struck her on the head with a stone and death followed soon after. The only words uttered by the child before death were "Good bye."

According to some persons, it will occur at Bari, on the Adriatic, northwest of Brindisi, which is rich in Russian memories. The Empress Alexandra, who still is ill, will not accompany her husband to Italy.

SCHOONER LOST WENT AGROUND

Sank on Diamond Shoal Lightship

BEAUFORT, N. C., Oct. 11.—An unknown schooner has mysteriously sunk in 14 fathoms of water due west of the Diamond Shoal Lightship. Just when the vessel went down is not known, but it must have been some time Saturday night, as it was not until yesterday morning that the lightship crew saw topsails standing well out of the water. Nowhere was there visible any sign of the crew of the foundered schooner, and not yet has there been any word to indicate their fate.

The mystery of the wreck is being the cause of much difficulty of explaining its occurrence. The weather has not been such within the last few days as to threaten the safety of vessels, and the only theory that is advanced to account for the wreck is that the schooner probably sprang a leak and went to the bottom.

There is a possibility that the schooner was carrying a cargo of coal, and that the cargo was so heavy that it caused the vessel to sink. It is possible the crew may have had no chance to escape.

The wreck lies in the tract of coastwise steamships.

SCHOONER LOST WENT AGROUND

Sank on Diamond Shoal Lightship

BEAUFORT, N. C., Oct. 11.—An unknown schooner has mysteriously sunk in 14 fathoms of water due west of the Diamond Shoal Lightship. Just when the vessel went down is not known, but it must have been some time Saturday night, as it was not until yesterday morning that the lightship crew saw topsails standing well out of the water. Nowhere was there visible any sign of the crew of the foundered schooner, and not yet has there been any word to indicate their fate.

The mystery of the wreck is being the cause of much difficulty of explaining its occurrence. The weather has not been such within the last few days as to threaten the safety of vessels, and the only theory that is advanced to account for the wreck is that the schooner probably sprang a leak and went to the bottom.

There is a possibility that the schooner was carrying a cargo of coal, and that the cargo was so heavy that it caused the vessel to sink. It is possible the crew may have had no chance to escape.

The wreck lies in the tract of coastwise steamships.

GOLD AND SILVER RUSSELL CASE

Were Stolen by Hold-up Man
Principals Not in the Courtroom Today

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 11.—Blinding and gagging the night clerk and his assistant and carrying them to an unoccupied part of the building, a lone hold-up man robbed the office of the Great Northern Express Co. at the King street station early this morning, securing several sacks of gold and silver and a large amount of paper money, the total amount running into the thousands.

GOT SIX MONTHS

For Vicious Assault on His Wife

Joseph A. Smith struck his wife over the head with a clothes rack at 1010 Cheever street Saturday night and a short time after the assault the woman was found in an alleyway near her house, but the husband had made good his escape.

The woman was taken to the Lowell hospital, where it was found that she had a bad scalp wound and five stitches were necessary to close it.

Yesterday the police ran across Smith, and in court this morning he was found guilty of assaulting his wife and sentenced to six months in the house of correction at Cambridge.

THE COMMISSION

OSTPONED ACTION ON MURPHY-PFEFFER CASE

DETROIT, Oct. 11.—The national commission on the Murphy-Pfeffer case today postponed action on the case until after the election of November 2. Chairman August Hermann announced that some definite action on the case would be taken at a meeting to be held on the 15th of next month. From the point of view of baseball men here, it is believed that the commission is trying to make further action with the hope that President Charles Murphy of the Chicago National will pay his share without further delay. It has been stated that the commission is trying to make it as easy as possible for Murphy in this particular instance, and that the commission is desirous of quieting comment on the case by quickly refusing to take any action. Hermann, however, is going to his statement that some definite action will be taken.

Shortly after the adjournment of court at 4:15 this afternoon, the jury in the case of Hamilton vs. Boston Rubber Shoe company returned a verdict of $100 for the plaintiff.

THE TIGERS

Were Easy for the Pittsburgs
This Afternoon

DETROIT, Oct. 11.—A leaden sky with an occasional glimpse of the sun and a damp field greeted the crowd as it made its way to Bennett park for the first of the world's championship games between Pittsburg and Detroit in this city today. At no time was it certain that it would not rain but thousands went to the park determined to brave anything to see the great battle. It would take a fairly heavy rainfall for the national commission to postpone the game as the officials and two teams are eager to finish the crucial series as soon as possible.

The Detroit team was given a great ovation as it emerged from the clubhouse led by Manager Jennings. The local team trotted on the field and went about its practice work in a businesslike way. Ty Cobb was cheered because of his brilliant work in Saturday's game at Pittsburg. In the first game Cobb's showing was not particularly brilliant but in the second battle he showed up much better and it is expected he has now struck his stride.

The selection of pitchers was puzzling to Managers Clarke and Jennings and neither would make a definite prediction as to his twirler during the preliminary practice.

Gibson will go behind the bat for Pittsburg, while Schmidt will catch for Detroit.

Following is the lineup:

Pittsburg—Byrne, 3b; Leach, cf; Clarke, 1b; Wagner, ss; Miller, 2b; Abstein, 1b; Wilson, rf; Gibson, c; Maddox, p.

Umpires—Klem.

The umpires had a conference with the national commission concerning the ground rules. As the crowd had overflowed into every part of the outfield it took them some time to decide upon rules. Umpire Klem who is not working today was called into the conference. Klem was sent out into the right field line to assist the umpires in regard to the ground rules. The use of a third umpire in advisory capacity was an innovation. Another conference between the umpires and managers was held and the game was delayed more than ten minutes in starting.

Umpire Klem who is working behind the plate announced the batteries as Maddox and Gibson, and Summers and Schmidt.

GAME IN DETAIL

First Inning—Byrne beat out a bunt down third base line for a straight hit. Leach singled. Wilson, who Leach singled, singled Byrne to third. Clarke hit to Summers and Byrne was run down between home and third. Leach went to third and Clarke to second. Wagner sent a sharp grounder that Bush could not handle, scoring Leach and Wilson. Wagner stole second and went to third on Schmidt's wild throw to second. Wagner scored on a wild pitch by Summers. Miller walked. Abstein singled to center and Miller went to third on the hit and scored on Crawford's throw. Post Morarty, Abstein going to third. Wilson singled to center scoring Abstein. Gibson out, third to T. Jones. Wilson going to second. Maddox fouled to Schmidt. P. runs.

MINISTER CRANE

Was Recalled Because of Article in a Chicago Paper

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Whether or not C. R. Crane shall proceed to Peking in the capacity of American minister to China seems now to depend upon the outcome of conferences between Mr. Crane and Knox, who unexpectedly and mysteriously summoned the minister from San Francisco to Washington on the eve of his proposed sailing across the Pacific to assume the duties of his office to which he recently was appointed.

Many indications early today supported the belief that the situation in which Charles Crane stands is exceedingly serious and in quarters presumably well informed the belief strengthened with the passing of the hours that Minister Crane's campaign with the diplomatic service was in a very precarious condition.

It is known now that the immediate occasion for the recall of Mr. Crane was an article in the Washington Record on September 22, in which Mr. Crane was charged with a somewhat minute acquaintance with confidential matters supposed to be known only by responsible officials in the state department, and presumably by Minister Crane.

The publication of the Chicago statement has deprived the American minister of his position in the country at Peking of considerable credit in the game of diplomacy and it may now be possible for any power to set in motion machinery that may defeat the whole project. No everything is now supposed to depend upon whether Mr. Crane shall acquit himself of a responsibility for the publication.

MURDER INDICTMENTS GREAT HURRICANE

Three Were Returned by Grand Jury at Providence

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 11.—Three indictments for murder, three for manslaughter and three secret indictments, were among the 119 true bills reported before Judge Lee in the supreme court today by the September term of the grand jury.

Philip Dinezzo of this city was charged with murdering Alfred Mander; Camillo Cristofani, accused of murdering James Larose at Woonsocket; and Angelo Moretti with slaying Antonio Marino in Cranston. The manslaughter indictments were against W. C. Gardner, held responsible for the death of Joseph P. Early; Charles A. O'Reilly, charged with causing the death of John H. Hamerstrom and John McKenna, an inmate of the soldiers' home at Bristol, who, it is alleged, clubbed his comrade, Alfred Morris.

James Beach, the Central Falls contractor, and Peter Casey of Pawtucket were indicted for obtaining money under false pretenses from the city of Pawtucket in connection with the famous stone crusher graft case. The bills returned by the last grand jury were found defective making a re-indictment necessary.

Hurricane now central through Key West, promises to be destructive to life and property over a large portion of the Florida peninsula. You are authorized to take any necessary expense and to adopt any reasonable measure to disseminate warnings to the islands off the coast.

Warnings at Key West recorded the remarkably low reading of 28.8 and already at that point the wind had reached hurricane force. In the opinion of the forecaster the storm will certainly cover the entire Florida peninsula but will be felt also west of the Appalachicola river. It is due in full force tonight and the weather bureau appeals to all newspapers and publishing organizations to spread the news.

The West Indian hurricane is fast approaching Key West according to a despatch received at noon by the weather bureau from its observer at that point.

Torrential rains have fallen ceaselessly during the last few days. At 2 o'clock this morning a storm of tremendous severity which had gathered to the west swept down upon the city and for six hours wrought damage similar to that done by the great cyclone of October 17, 1905. The wind tore down telegraph and telephone wires throughout the city, uprooted and broke down every tree in its path and put out of operation the electric light system. The overhead trolley lines and the many works dependent upon the electric power plants were also put out of commission. While the wind was doing its worst the downpour of rain flooded the streets, making it impossible to open the shops. The smaller craft in the harbor was at the mercy of the storm and today many of these are thrown high on shore while others have been sunk at their anchorages.

At 9 o'clock the storm had lessened sufficiently so that some idea of the damage could be had. It is enormous apparently but what it will represent in dollars cannot be said as yet.

The steamers of the Ward and Plant lines as well as the steamer from New Orleans which are due today had not arrived this forenoon. As the morning progressed the wind continued to subside but a terrific sea was still running.

At the conclusion of the trial of the case of Hamilton vs. Boston Rubber Shoe company, which went to the jury at noon today, Judge King addressed the jurors relative to the suspension of the session at the conclusion of the evening week and also paid a tribute to the memory of the late Judge Bishop, whose illness and subsequent demise last Friday rendered the coming suspension unavoidable. His Honor spoke in part as follows:

Gentlemen of the jury: I have this morning received a letter from the chief justice, notifying me to excuse the jurors on this panel at the conclusion of this week's sitting until the day following the state election, Nov. 2. This is due to the fact that this session was to have been held by the late Justice Bishop, whose death occurred last Friday, to which I would have referred at that time had not a case been on the docket. Justice Bishop became ill about a month ago, and his condition was such that it was impossible for him to hold court and hence I was sent as his substitute for two weeks, after which I go to my regular assignment in a neighboring city. It is only fitting for me at this time to pay a brief tribute to the late Justice Bishop. He had served almost the longest of any of our judges, Justices Sherman and Bond outranking him in seniority. He was a most amiable and courteous gentleman, and a wise and discreet judge. His death is lamented by all, and it is only just that I should pay this brief tribute to so spotless a life, to one who had done his full duty for so many years in such a responsible position.

Major Bent's Mission

The fact that court will be resumed in this city in two weeks is largely due to the efforts of Major William H. Bent, who, representing the lawyers of Lowell, appeared before Chief Justice Aiken on Saturday, with a request that a judge be assigned to this city to continue the session. Major Bent informed the chief justice that the list this session is both long and strong, over 200 cases being on it ready for trial. The chief justice informed him that the two judges now sitting in special sessions in Cambridge start on a murder trial beginning the day following election, but he expected that a new appointment will be made by the governor in a short time, and hence a judge will be available for Lowell in two weeks.

Local lawyers are finding fault over the fact that their cases are frequently put back because of the fact that Boston lawyers going before the fourth session in Boston have cases specially assigned to this session. Invariably to the exclusion of some Lowell case. An instance of this was shown this morning when two Lowell lawyers attempted to get cases on the trial list for two weeks only to find that five cases from the lower end of the county had been specially assigned for trial in Lowell this week. Two of these have been settled, but the other three will go to trial. There is a possibility that one of these cases will be reached before the close of the week, but that of Burleigh vs. Barker, which Messrs. Farley and Tierney asked to have placed on this week's list. All other local cases in all probability will go over until court returns and then the several cases, local and otherwise, that have been assigned for dates between the 15th of this month and Nov. 1st, will take precedence.

Case Reaches Jury

The case of Hamilton vs. Boston Rubber Shoe company, which went to the jury this morning, the plaintiff last two fingers in a cutting machine and one of the claims set up by his counsel was that he had been a performer on musical instruments and that the accident had incapacitated him from playing on them any more. The court in charge of the jury asked that they could take into consideration the effect on his enjoyment of life as a performer for his own entertainment or that of his friends but should not consider the effect upon him as a professional performer. His ability to earn money by playing, as the plaintiff had not made this particular claim in his pleadings.

The Court Case

The case of Oanta vs. Boston & Northern to recover $200, for which a jury was empaneled last Friday, went to trial at noon. W. H. Bent for the plaintiff and Trask & Winsor for the defendant. Joseph Oanta, the plaintiff, alleges that on May 22, 1905, while driving a horse and carriage into Merrimack street from John street he was run into by an electric car, losing at a high rate of speed and without warning, and injured.

COURT OF APPEALS

Affirms the Sentence of Morse, the "Ice King"

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The United States circuit court of appeals today affirmed the decision of the lower federal court sentencing Charles W. Morse to fifteen years' imprisonment in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

The decision of the circuit court of appeals is that so far as another appeal is concerned, but it was said today that counsel for Mr. Morse may apply to the supreme court of the United States for a writ of certiorari in order to bring about a review of the entire proceedings, which the court today refused to grant.

At the office of Mr. Morse's counsel today it was stated that the case would be taken to the supreme court and an application for bail would be made. Meantime Mr. Morse will be sent to the Tombs or might be sent to Atlanta to begin his sentence unless the supreme court grants a writ of certiorari.

Mr. Morse appeared at the office of the United States marshal soon after the decision was handed down and surrendered himself. He remained in the Tombs until his counsel, Martin Littleton, asked the circuit court of appeals for a stay in the execution pending a further proceeding.

Morse was indicted on March 12, 1908, on his return from Europe. The indictment contained 53 counts, comprising conspiracy to defraud the United States government, the making of false entries and the misappropriation of the funds of a national bank. It was charged that Morse with others was engaged in a pool dealing with the stock of the American Ice Co. As the result of this pool the United States District Atty. Stinson declared Morse and his associates were possessors of large blocks of ice stock and finally, getting near the end of their resources, went to the National bank of North America and secured money to continue the speculation. The government alleged that from time to time $1,200,000 of the bank's money was used for this purpose. To conceal these transactions Mr. Stinson said fictitious loans were made on the bank's books with the ice stock really bought with the bank's own money.

After his original sentence, Morse obtained a writ of error which brought his case before the circuit court of appeals for review. Arguments on his appeal began last February and did not end until June 17, when the judges reserved decision and admitted the defendant to bail of $125,000 furnished by twenty of his friends. On June 17 Morse was released from the Tombs where he had been confined since October, 1908. Immediately he plunged into business as if a four prison term were not hanging over him and during the past four months his financial rehabilitation was rapid. During that time he is reported to have paid off $50,000 of his $125,000 indebtedness and to have regained control of a large part of his extensive steamship interests.

While the court today did not light on the sentence which Morse has been striving to amend, its decision was not entirely adverse to him. It sustained only ten of the 53 counts against which he was convicted by a jury. This, say his attorneys, will leave a means of approach to the court of last resort and an application for a writ of certiorari to review the case will be made on Oct. 18 in Washington.

Mr. Morse is evidently disappointed that judgment against him was not reversed, said his lawyer, Martin W. Littleton, today, but he had faith that it would be brought before the supreme court of the United States. He is not set down by the decision and as far as he is allowed his liberty pending final application of the matter he will continue to repair his broken fortunes and help those whom he is supposed to have injured.

As soon as application for a writ of certiorari is made this case is a stay of execution and Mr. Morse said. Meanwhile Morse's attorneys will strive to have the circuit court of appeals of New York grant a stay in the execution of the sentence.

LOSS IS $1,000,000

Home of Ex-Governor Sprague Was Destroyed by Fire

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Oct. 11.—With trembling steps, Rhode Island's aged war governor, William Sprague, was led from his famous home, Canonchet, early today, and with his wife, turned to see one of the most magnificent private houses in the state and the home on which he had lavished more than half a million dollars, fly skyward in smoke and flames.

Faithful servants and willing neighbors dragged out many pieces of valuable furniture, paintings and other household goods before the flames reached the lower floor but nothing above that was saved. The great homestead was built of wood many years ago and was four stories in height. During the height of his career Governor Sprague filled the house with the choice specimens of antique furniture, valuable hangings, rugs and paintings. Canonchet was one of the "show" places of the state and, occupying a slightly position not far from the bay, it was the object of interest for nearly half a century.

It was the home of the governor and Mrs. Sprague that they should pass the remainder of their days in the home which they loved so well. But in the dark hours of the early morning one of the servants heard the snapping of flames and saw the reflection of light from the chimney. The alarm was quickly aroused and the aged governor was led down the stairs through the gathering smoke by his wife. In the meantime the neighborhood had been aroused and the firemen of Peacocks, three miles away, were called upon for help. The response was the entire fighting force, consisting of a small chemical engine and two hose wagons. Before their arrival the great building was firmly in the grasp of the flames so the firemen turned their attention to the outbuildings and saved the big barn and other small structures.

The governor after eating, rushed to his home was taken to a neighboring house and made comfortable.

Governor Sprague says his loss will reach $1,000,000. There was $275,000 insurance on the property, but the fire which destroyed Gov. Sprague's house in Boston last week the personal loss far exceeds the financial.

The cause of the fire had not been determined at noon today.

Later in the day the former governor said that his loss would be at least $1,000,000. The house cost $600,000, built, the furniture, the greater part of which was made to order abroad and imported, cost $250,000 and the oil paintings including Corrot's, Michael Angelo and other old masters were easily valued at $150,000.

Prof. Moore Predicts Loss of Life and Property

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Great destruction to property and loss of life along the South Atlantic and even in the interior according to Prof. Moore, is certain to result from a great hurricane which has already touched southern Florida and is making its way up the coast. Since reports of this morning the weather bureau has led Prof. Moore to take every measure possible to protect the inhabitants of the Sea Islands of the Florida coast from the approaching storm. At noon he sent the following instructions to the observer at Jupiter Inlet, Tampa, Jacksonville and Thomasville.

"Hurricane now central through Key West, promises to be destructive to life and property over a large portion of the Florida peninsula. You are authorized to take any necessary expense and to adopt any reasonable measure to disseminate warnings to the islands off the coast."

Warnings at Key West recorded the remarkably low reading of 28.8 and already at that point the wind had reached hurricane force. In the opinion of the forecaster the storm will certainly cover the entire Florida peninsula but will be felt also west of the Appalachicola river. It is due in full force tonight and the weather bureau appeals to all newspapers and publishing organizations to spread the news.

The West Indian hurricane is fast approaching Key West according to a despatch received at noon by the weather bureau from its observer at that point.

Torrential rains have fallen ceaselessly during the last few days. At 2 o'clock this morning a storm of tremendous severity which had gathered to the west swept down upon the city and for six hours wrought damage similar to that done by the great cyclone of October 17, 1905. The wind tore down telegraph and telephone wires throughout the city, uprooted and broke down every tree in its path and put out of operation the electric light system. The overhead trolley lines and the many works dependent upon the electric power plants were also put out of commission. While the wind was doing its worst the downpour of rain flooded the streets, making it impossible to open the shops. The smaller craft in the harbor was at the mercy of the storm and today many of these are thrown high on shore while others have been sunk at their anchorages.

At 9 o'clock the storm had lessened sufficiently so that some idea of the damage could be had. It is enormous apparently but what it will represent in dollars cannot be said as yet.

The steamers of the Ward and Plant lines as well as the steamer from New Orleans which are due today had not arrived this forenoon. As the morning progressed the wind continued to subside but a terrific sea was still running.

At the conclusion of the trial of the case of Hamilton vs. Boston Rubber Shoe company, which went to the jury at noon today, Judge King addressed the jurors relative to the suspension of the session at the conclusion of the evening week and also paid a tribute to the memory of the late Judge Bishop, whose illness and subsequent demise last Friday rendered the coming suspension unavoidable. His Honor spoke in part as follows:

Gentlemen of the jury: I have this morning received a letter from the chief justice, notifying me to excuse the jurors on this panel at the conclusion of this week's sitting until the day following the state election, Nov. 2. This is due to the fact that this session was to have been held by the late Justice Bishop, whose death occurred last Friday, to which I would have referred at that time had not a case been on the docket. Justice Bishop became ill about a month ago, and his condition was such that it was impossible for him to hold court and hence I was sent as his substitute for two weeks, after which I go to my regular assignment in a neighboring city. It is only fitting for me at this time to pay a brief tribute to the late Justice Bishop. He had served almost the longest of any of our judges, Justices Sherman and Bond outranking him in seniority. He was a most amiable and courteous gentleman, and a wise and discreet judge. His death is lamented by all, and it is only just that I should pay this brief tribute to so spotless a life, to one who had done his full duty for so many years in such a responsible position.

Major Bent's Mission

The fact that court will be resumed in this city in two weeks is largely due to the efforts of Major William H. Bent, who, representing the lawyers of Lowell, appeared before Chief Justice Aiken on Saturday, with a request that a judge be assigned to this city to continue the session. Major Bent informed the chief justice that the list this session is both long and strong, over 200 cases being on it ready for trial. The chief justice informed him that the two judges now sitting in special sessions in Cambridge start on a murder trial beginning the day following election, but he expected that a new appointment will be made by the governor in a short time, and hence a judge will be available for Lowell in two weeks.

Local lawyers are finding fault over the fact that their cases are frequently put back because of the fact that Boston lawyers going before the fourth session in Boston have cases specially assigned to this session. Invariably to the exclusion of some Lowell case. An instance of this was shown this morning when two Lowell lawyers attempted to get cases on the trial list for two weeks only to find that five cases from the lower end of the county had been specially assigned for trial in Lowell this week. Two of these have been settled, but the other three will go to trial. There is a possibility that one of these cases will be reached before the close of the week, but that of Burleigh vs. Barker, which Messrs. Farley and Tierney asked to have placed on this week's list. All other local cases in all probability will go over until court returns and then the several cases, local and otherwise, that have been assigned for dates between the 15th of this month and Nov. 1st, will take precedence.

Case Reaches Jury

The case of Hamilton vs. Boston Rubber Shoe company, which went to the jury this morning, the plaintiff last two fingers in a cutting machine and one of the claims set up by his counsel was that he had been a performer on musical instruments and that the accident had incapacitated him from playing on them any more. The court in charge of the jury asked that they could take into consideration the effect on his enjoyment of life as a performer for his own entertainment or that of his friends but should not consider the effect upon him as a professional performer. His ability to earn money by playing, as the plaintiff had not made this particular claim in his pleadings.

The Court Case

The case of Oanta vs. Boston & Northern to recover $200, for which a jury was empaneled last Friday, went to trial at noon. W. H. Bent for the plaintiff and Trask & Winsor for the defendant. Joseph Oanta, the plaintiff, alleges that on May 22, 1905, while driving a horse and carriage into Merrimack street from John street he was run into by an electric car, losing at a high rate of speed and without warning, and injured.

TALKS OF REVOLUTION

British Chancellor Says the Peers May Force One

NEWCASTLE, Eng., Oct. 11.—David Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, received a popular welcome at the Palace theatre here where he gave to an audience of 4000 what he called a plain talk on the budget.

"We are going to send that bill up to the house of lords and get all the taxes or none," said the chancellor. He did not know what would be the final action to be taken by "poor Lord Lansdowne with his creaking old ship and mutinous crew," but if the lords turn up the constitution by interfering with the money bill, they would force a revolution.

"The lords may decree a revolution, but the people will direct it if it is begun, and issues will be raised that are now little dreamed of, the answers to which will be charged with peril for the order of things which the peers represent."

When Lloyd George was leaving the theatre a crowd of suffragettes made a dash toward his car. Lady Constance Lytton, who was armed with a hat-needle, Mrs. H. N. Bradstreet and Miss Davidson were among the leaders in the day four other sympathizers with the suffragettes were sentenced to 11 days of hard labor for indulging in a wine-jockey.

ENORMOUS INCREASE

In Imports Into United States From the Philippines

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Imports into the United States from the Philippine Islands under the new tariff show an increase of more than 100 per cent. In August, 1909, when compared with August, 1908. Curiously, however, the principal increase is in an article which entered free of duty under the former tariff, namely, Manila hemp. The total value of merchandise from the Philippines in the month of August, 1909, was $1,821,138, against $814,519 in August of last year. Of this $1,821,138 worth of merchandise from the Philippines in August of the present year, Manila hemp formed by far the largest part, that article alone amounting in value to $1,578,205, while in August of last year the Manila hemp imported amounted in value to but $314,128. Thus, while the records of the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor show an increase of more than 100 per cent. in the value of merchandise brought from the Philippine Islands in the first month under the new tariff when compared with the corresponding month of last year, by far the largest item of that increase was Manila hemp, which entered free of duty under the former tariff.

The fact the increase in importations of articles formerly dutiable, but now free of duty is not large. Sugar, for example, although there had been for months reason to believe that imports thereof from the Philippine Islands would be admitted free of duty under the new tariff, actually shows a small increase in importation in the month of August, 1909, when admitted free of duty, than in August, 1908, when paying duty. The total quantity of sugar coming from the Philippines during the month of August, 1909, was 8,855,000 pounds, all of which was admitted free of duty, while in the corresponding month of last year, when sugar from those islands paid a duty, the quantity imported therefrom was 24,810,000 pounds, or two and a half times as much as in August, 1909, when no duty was paid. Cigars, cigarettes, and cheroots, entering free of duty in August, 1909, were valued at $17,123, but of this total $4,098 entered during the first five days of August, and therefore still subject to and required to pay a duty. The free importations of cigars, cigarettes, and cheroots from the Philippines during August, 1909, was thus $14,025 and the dutiable imports, during the five days in which the old law was still in effect, $3068.

The principal articles imported from the Philippines in August, 1909, were Manila hemp, copra, coconut oil, pepper stock, and sugar. In August, 1909, the principal articles imported from those islands were Manila hemp, sugar, other than Manila, sugar, cigarettes, and cigars, and dyes, and cigars, cheroots, etc. In dutiable articles imported from the Philippines in August, 1909, included sugar, $152,000; cigars, cigarettes, cheroots, etc., $168; manufactured tobacco, $28; silk, manufactures, $38; hats, bannets, etc., composed of silk, $22; manufactures of cotton, $139; and chemicals, drugs and dyes, $11. In August, 1909, the value of sugar imported free of duty from the Philippines was $172,816, against $452,590 imported subject to duty in August of the preceding year; of silk manufactures, $117,171 free of duty and $33,281 subject to duty in August, 1909, against $80,000 imported in August, 1908; hats, bannets, etc., dutiable, $111 in August, 1909, against $222 dutiable in August of last year; chemicals, drugs, and dyes, $626 free in August, 1909, against $144 dutiable in August, 1908; and manufactures of cotton, $102, $262, and $100 in August, 1909, against $82 in August of the preceding year. It will thus be seen that in several cases the importations in August, 1909, of articles formerly dutiable, but now free of duty, were less than in the corresponding month of the preceding year when they were paying duty, while in some instances, as in the case of silk manufactures, the importations of articles of which considerable quantities were brought in during August, 1909, when they were dutiable.

The total importations from the Philippines in August, 1909, amounted to $1,821,138, against $814,519 in August of last year.

WORKS AT BENCH BADLY MANGLED

Paid at Rate of $10,000 a Year Baby Stepped in Front of Electric Car

QUINCY, Oct. 11.—Clyde Leslie McConnell, 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. McConnell of Sea Street, was fearfully mangled by an electric car which ran over him in front of his home yesterday afternoon. So badly were the baby's legs crushed that it was necessary to amputate both at the knees in the Quincy City hospital.

The baby lived with his parents in the caretaker's house of the John Quincy Adams farm on Sea street, and the accident happened in front of his home. The car was in charge of Conductor Elmer Blandin, while the front end was under the supervision of Motorman William Gould and James Moran, who is "breaking in" as a motorman.

The tracks on Sea street at this point run on the easterly side of the street, and are separated from the highway by a row of trees 80 Middlesex st.

He learned the business when a boy and in New England years ago rose from the bench to a position as manager. When the Harrington company moved here from New England George came with it as its high priced expert. He also was first vice president of the company.

In the recent leather merger the Harrington company was absorbed by the General Leather company. Then George discovered he was to be displaced, and it was intimated that his resignation would be accepted when sent in.

George replied he was not resigning. He would insist that the contract the Harrington company had with him be lived up to. He was informed he would have to go to work. It was expected he would refuse to don overalls and sell his hands, but the trust representatives were mistaken.

PROBABLY MURDER

Body of Woman Was Found in Her Lonely Home

WALLINGFORD, Vt., Oct. 11.—An object of loving attention by the cats which were her only companions in life, the body of Miss Mary J. Johnson, 67 years old, was found yesterday in her lonely home near "The Bridge" in circumstances which indicate a robbery. Although detained under the charge of intoxication, Robert Eddy, who has served a sentence in state prison, and is being held for the police, is being held largely because he is unable satisfactorily to account for his whereabouts on Saturday night, when it is believed the murder, if any, was committed. Miss Johnson's throat bore signs of choking, there were signs of a struggle about the house and a pocketbook was lying empty on the floor. Robbery is the only suspected motive. An arrest has been ordered by State's Attorney J. C. Jones for this afternoon. Miss Johnson had lived the life of a recluse for years, except for the companionship of her feline wards.

POLICE OFFICIALS

Ridicule Story That Lawrence Man Made a Confession

LAWRENCE, Oct. 11.—District Attorney W. Scott Peters, when interviewed last evening in regard to the alleged confession concerning the murder of the policeman at Methuen a year ago, which was published yesterday in Boston, said that his attention had not been called officially on the matter, and that he knew nothing about it, further than had been stated in the newspaper account.

State Officer Fred E. Flynn, who headed the investigation, also denied any knowledge of any such incidents. He called attention to the fact that the ball which killed McDermott was a steel mauler bullet, the same as carried by the Jamaica Plain bandits. The officer knew nothing of the alleged confession, and appeared to take the matter lightly.

City Marshal Richard Fox declared his belief that the story was invented. He had received no information whatever of the alleged confession, and said that he considered the story extremely foolish. He said that he was not a biding citizen, professional or otherwise, would give such a story, it were to a newspaper, before communicating with the police.

Capt. Sullivan of the night force also knew nothing of the affair. He summed up the story as being "bosh." The Methuen police disclaim any knowledge of the confession, and laughed when the story was shown them. The story is universally discredited through the city, because of the utter absence of names, dates or places.

Medical Examiner John Croston of Haverhill, when called upon last night, had heard nothing of the alleged confession. He stated upon referring to his papers of the autopsy that McDermott was killed by a revolver shot which entered the left side, and the bullet which was afterward recovered, was described as from a Mauser gun. There were a number of wounds on the head which had penetrated the skull, evidently made by stones.

In the body of Emerson there was but a single bullet wound. When the clothing was removed the bullet fell out. It having passed through the left side, Emerson's head was then wounded in several places, but not so badly as was McDermott's. Some of the head wounds, Dr. Croston thought, might possibly have been made by bullets, but their appearance hardly warranted such a cause. He stated that in his opinion the story of the confessions was "bubly."

The story referred to claims that a man in Lawrence on his deathbed made a confession, which is now in the hands of the district attorney, claiming that McDermott and Emerson were shot by one of a gang of Lawrence and Methuen men who "bunked out" in the past meadow.

The men had been stealing fruit and vegetables and the officers were seen approaching their redoubts. A fight followed, in which McDermott, a terrible

THAT STATUE OF PURITY WHICH CAUSES N. Y. TO SMILE

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—New York has been very much amused and entertained by the statue both for civic and moral righteousness. Be that as it may, the big plaster statue of Purity which has been erected in Longacre square, the old looking figure with upturned hand and close gripped shield was erected by some civic minded persons who believe that New York is entitled to a statue both for civic and moral righteousness. Be that as it may, the average New Yorker thinks the statue is out of place in that part of Broadway, and the thing is being unmercifully "guyed."

MILWAUKEE WIFE

Makes Strange Plea for Divorce

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 11.—Because her husband persistently refuses to wear neckties which match with the shade of her gowns, Mrs. Alfred Laroche will file suit for divorce. She was married in Syracuse five years ago. The husband's defense will be that his wife so imposed upon him by insisting that he accompany her on shopping tours that his cruelty is justified.

The wife's plaint is that her husband, whom she likes to have accompany her on her visits to the downtown stores, deliberately wears clothing which does not comport with her gowns. On one occasion, she says, she was shopping in a plum-colored silk and her husband attired himself in a flowing green four-in-hand, which shone in striking contrast to her costume.

On another occasion he wore a tie of blue to prevent her enjoying a shopping tour in a creation of a light green shade.

JUSTICE GAYNOR

Says That Hearst Promised to Support Him

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—In a statement full of stings, yet devoid of innuendo, Justice William J. Gaynor, the democratic nominee for mayor of Greater New York, fired his first big projectile of the municipal campaign last night in an attack on William Randolph Hearst for repudiating him as a candidate after having promised to support him.

Early last week, Mr. Hearst issued a statement, saying positively that he would not run for mayor but would support Justice Gaynor. Two days later he accepted an independent nomination for the office and, reversing his former position, declared that Gaynor's associations with Tammany had induced him to withdraw his support. Surprised at this action, Justice Gaynor issued a brief statement, charging Hearst with breach of faith and last night he came out with a statement and a letter, purporting to show that Hearst had urged him to run for mayor nearly six months ago "on any ticket," and pledged his support.

To strengthen his statement, Justice Gaynor first made public a letter addressed to him by Rudolph Block, who occupies an editorial position on the Hearst papers. Under date of February 5, Block, while "regretting exceedingly to be drawn into the article," reviews at some length what purports to have been the details of meetings between Hearst and Gaynor, early last summer. The letter says, in part: "Shortly before Mr. Hearst left for Europe last summer, he asked me to bring you to his home. I think this was the second or third time you had ever seen him. He asked you if you would not run for mayor in the fall and said 'I don't care what ticket you run on, I'll support you.'"

Mr. Block goes on to say that Hearst declared that he would support Gaynor even if nominated by Tammany on the theory that he was opposed to Tammany methods but not opposed to Tammany when it does the right thing. In addition, according to Block, Hearst then promised Gaynor the support of his newspapers. Commenting on these circumstances, Justice Gaynor's statement says: "To this statement of Mr. Block I add that after returning from Europe I saw Mr. Hearst in September according to promise. He said that he had in no way changed his mind and that he would support me whatever ticket I ran on, or whoever nominated me. He reiterated this repeatedly, and with apparent earnestness. He came out into the hall to the elevator as I was leaving and took me by the hand and told me to come out with a statement that I would run and that he would support me."

Justice Gaynor then continues: "Mr. Hearst now repudiates his former promise, but he is leaving himself nominated by petition against me. I am fully conscious that his great estate of from $50,000,000 to $85,000,000 gives him a huge advantage over me in one respect, but I am ready to meet him before the people of New York. I suppose we are about to witness again such a lavish use of money by a candidate for office as was never before witnessed in American politics and which if continued, must in the end debase and corrupt our politics and our system of government. But may be that with all this money and newspaper and power the people of New York may not let him run over me so easily as he thinks."

Mr. Hearst gave out a statement answering Justice Gaynor, in which he said: "Judge Gaynor has stated that I asked him to bring me to his home and that I asked him if he would not run for mayor in the fall and said 'I don't care what ticket you run on, I'll support you.' I will try to assume that he is telling the truth, but it is difficult for me to do so as the person who is so candid and so unimpeachable as to state the truth on his part."

Under Gaynor is not a life friend of a deeply loved brother to whom a blind devotion might be due. He has been to me merely a representative of certain ideas, an exponent of certain principles. While he was supporting these principles I supported him. When he repudiated these principles I parted from him. "I said on October 10, that I believed that Justice Gaynor's statement would prove to be entirely untrue, but that he must be given an opportunity to clear up the matter. We expected a similar statement of untruthfulness and falsehood. We received a crushing, crushing, crushing expression of opinion, or rather lack of opinion, and a squall, squall, squall, that we endorse his evil associates, on either under any and all circumstances."

He Received a Shock of 13,000 Volts But Was Not Killed

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Eugene J. Perry of Medford, employed by the Edison Electric Illuminating company, fell against a live wire while at work in Dedham yesterday and 13,000 volts of electricity passed through his body until he was rescued by his fellow workmen. He was unconscious and was severely burned on the right arm, left arm and right foot. He was taken to the Massachusetts General hospital where his condition is critical. It is feared he will lose his right hand and right leg.

Perry was at work with a construction gang stringing wires on East street, Dedham. He was on a pole and a network of wires when he missed his footing. His position was quickly seen by his fellow-employees and word was sent to the power station and the power was shut off. The man lay unconscious across the net-work of wires and the other workmen had to tie a rope around his body to lower him to the ground.

Dr. Andrew H. Hodgdon of Dedham was called and attended the man. Perry revived soon after the accident, but suffered severely from the terrible burns on his arms and leg. Dr. Hodgdon used the wound temporarily and relieved the man's sufferings while he was rushed in an automobile to the Massachusetts General hospital.

INDIANS NOT DECREASING
WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The popular idea that the American Indians are decreasing in number is dispelled by official figures showing that today there are more than three hundred thousand Red men in the United States.

The increase in population of about 10,000 during the last two decades is attributed to the government's constant effort to uplift the aborigine to the level of contemporary civilization.
